To Whom It May Concern:

Russell Elementary has been fortunate to have the Kids' Adventures before and after school program this year. Our students get out of school at 2:30 which means many of them go home to an empty house. With the Kids' Adventures program, the students can stay at school and be in a safe environment. Jill Bradford, the director here at Russell, designs the program so students have time to work on their homework with help from her, as well as play games and have fun.

The Russell staff is very pleased with the program. Jill is flexible and accommodating with the other after school tutoring programs we have at Russell. She willingly shares her space and does whatever is asked of her so students can have as many opportunities as possible to enrich their experiences.

Tom O'Connor is a great leader of Kids' Adventures. His company is very well organized and efficient. When we asked to have our parent letters changed to fit our population, Tom made the changes that day and had them in our hands for immediate distribution.

Most importantly, students and their parents are happy with the Kids' Adventures Program. Parents know that their children are being supervised in a safe environment and they appreciate the accountability that they, as parents, are held to. The students like having a fun place to go after school where they can play safely and get help with homework.

If you are looking for a before and after school program to serve your students, you will not go wrong with Kids' Adventures.

Sincerely,
